An interesting Golf Fact you haven't heard before:

After, Golf Balls Were (Maybe) Wooden

"When manufacturers realized the feathery golf balls weren't working, they started experimenting with other materials.

While there's little concrete evidence to support this, many people theorized golf balls were wooden before they adopted the modern golf ball manufacturing method.

If this is true, these balls were likely used between the 14th and 17th centuries.

Why were wooden balls used before modern golf balls? Many people believe it's because wooden balls were standard for other games, especially stick-and-ball games."
